

I am concerned about the abuse that this deregulation could lead to -- we do not need any further monopolization of our sources of information. An informed electorate requires input from all sources with the least amount of commercial, religious or political censorship or selectivity.